

SOUTHERN RELIEF BALL BIG SUCCESS

Affair Surpasses Those of Other
Years Financially, and Artistically.

PROMINENT PERSONS THERE

Both Willard Ballrooms Are Colorful Scene During Dancing.

The Southern Relief Society needs no instruction in the gentle art of combining business with pleasure. As always, its annual ball, given last evening at the Willard and attended by several thousand guests, was a huge success financially and as a brilliant, colorful spectacle it measured up to the high standard set by the many notable functions to the credit of the society.

Not even the absence of the President and Mrs. Wilson, who were expected up to the last minute and whose absence was due to the sudden stress of official business connected with the historic developments of the last few days, could measurably detract from the success of the evening.

Officialdom Represented.
Officialdom was well represented by the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, the Secretary of State and Mrs. Lansing, the Secretary of War and Mrs. Baker, the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels and many other notables.

The Vice President and Mrs. Marshall took their places for a time at the head of the receiving line. When this broke up they were escorted to the Presidential box, flag decked and railed about with blooming plants, from which they looked down with interest on the shifting throng, which filled both ball rooms and overflowed into the corridors of the ball room suite.

A Frieze of Smiles.

A frieze of Southern smiles about the great ball rooms, tall palms to bank the corners, the decorations were simple but most effective; and the braces of flags over the boxes and at the ends of the room were in keeping with the contagious patriotic spirit which prevailed. Supper was served at midnight in the supper room on the ground floor.

Handsome women in bright colored gowns—belying the much discussed shortage of up-to-date and fashionable frocks; elderly gentlemen, whose courtly manners were reminiscent of an older generation, and statesmen whose minds must have been seething with the momentous problems of today; little ladies who venture seldom into the great world of society and beleaguered dowagers to whom society is the one great interest in life—all these mingled shoulder to shoulder among the dancers.

Colorful Scene.

To the spectator the effect was one of colorful brilliance and piquant interest. Theater bonnets of silver or gold lace, some pretty and some well-startling, were everywhere. In evidence, a fashion seldom seen at the other balls of the season; and I noticed scores of the great, gay feather fans which are being so much used this year. Scarlet, green, burnt orange and blue, they gave accent to the already gay scene.

Miss Edith Temple Gracie, who shared with Miss Amy Bennett the distinction of being adjudged by C. W. De Lyon, chairman of the New York, Washington's most beautiful girl, carried a French blue fan, which she used most gracefully. Her gown was black, and she wore a corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Made Presentations.

R. D. Shepherd stood first at the entrance door and made the presentations to Miss Nannie Randolph Heth, president of the Southern Relief. She presented the guests to the Vice President, who introduced them to his wife, Mrs. Lansing stood next to Mrs. Marshall, then Miss Mary Custis Lee took their place for a short while. Mrs. William L. Marshall, wife of the chief of engineers, retired; Mrs. James A. Mulcare, division president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and Mrs. Delos A. Blodgett completed the party.

Mrs. Marshall wore a gown of black brocade in gold made short and bouffant, with a tight-fitting bodice of white lace embroidered in gold, over pale pink, and carried a beautiful fan of shaded pink ostrich feathers. Mrs. Lansing wore white lace over cloth of silver, the lace thickly studded with crystals and pearls. Mrs. Daniels wore a gown of silver, veiled with silver, and carried a bouquet with a train of the cloth of silver, but arrived after the line was broken, as she had entertained the President and Mrs. Wilson at dinner.

Committee Chairmen.

Much of the great success of the ball is due to the efforts of Mrs. Francis M. Chisholm, chairman of the ball committee; Mrs. Lawrence H. Quirrollo, vice chairman; Miss Heth, president of the society, and Mrs. R. D. Shepherd, as matron of honor of the young ladies' committee. In the boxes ranged about the walls many notables were assembled. Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh had as her guests Mrs. Samuel Spencer, Mrs. Hunt Slater, Charles Noble Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Penfield and Captain and Mrs. Barker.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Johnson entertained in their box Miss Elizabeth Heath, Miss Nellie Johnson, Paymaster Smith, Humphreys, Henry Marbury and Harold Kest.

William E. Fowler entertained in his box Senator and Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, Senator and Mrs. Joseph Penfield, Miss Rosalie Spang, Mrs. Horace Macfarland, Miss Mary Temple, Mr. Lefevre, of the Panama legation, and Edwin Flather.

Guests of Gold Brocade.

Miss Lucy Harris, of Spartanburg, S. C., who is visiting in Washington, wore a charming frock of gold brocade combined with tulle; Miss Anna Brown, a becoming spangled tulle frock.

Capt. and Mrs. William Graeme Harvey had as guests in their box Mrs. La Salle Carbell Pickett, Mr. and Mrs. Tucker K. Sands, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith, Mrs. Theodore Shuey, Mrs. Russell Harding, of New York, and Mrs. Helen Robertson. Mrs. Harvey wore a lovely gown of pink tulle, with pink chiffon embroidered in gold. Mrs. Helen Robertson, blue tulle over silver lace, and Mrs. Carl Smith, white duchesse lace over white satin. Mr. and Mrs. Ritter had among their box guests Mrs. Ten Eyck Wendell and her mother, Mrs. Foote, and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Collier.

Mrs. Harry Craig Annesley's gown of black tulle embroidered in gold sequins and pearls was built over tulle and made with a train of black satin embroidered in gold. She wore a diamond necklace and pendant. Mrs. Samuel Burleigh Milton wore a gown of green georgette crepe over silver cloth trimmed with iridescent sequins and tulle.

GRANDMA USED SAGE

TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She mixed Sulphur with it to Restore Color, Gloss, Youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray hair black and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or thinning. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 5-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractive-ness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft, and lustrant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advt.

PROCEED WITH CARE IS WARNING OF U. S.

Government Warns Citizens
Against Move That May Bring Embarrassment.

Warning to the country—Government officials and citizens—against doing anything in panic or haste that might embarrass the United States seriously in its present international situation, was issued today by the Government.

It was learned that, under direction of the President, officials holding positions of unusual responsibility, have been urged to use great care not to do anything that this Government has not a clear and legal right to do.

Incorrect Reports Responsible.

The official warning came in view of reports that German ships were being seized—something which has not and will not be done, unless war is declared.

The President feels there is no panic nor haste warranted at the present time, and has determined that whatever other governments may do, this Government is going to adhere strictly to the letter of the law. Then if action becomes inevitable, the United States, he holds, will be clear of any questionable move, and will be free to act upon principles and not upon a basis of expediency.

Must Conform To Law.

Least something unwise might be done on an occasion of temporary excitement or panic the different government departments have notified all employees that their action must be guided absolutely according to law.

Federal immigration authorities will not interfere with the crews of the German merchantmen in American ports as long as they remain aboard their vessels, it was announced today by the immigration bureau.

Treated As Immigrants.

However, alien seamen who come ashore for the purpose of reshipment in coastwise trade or to engage in any other pursuits will be treated as immigrants and subjected to the same regulations and limitations as other aliens; seeking admission into the United States.

The immigration bureau stated that it had no jurisdiction in the matter of sailors from interned German auxiliary cruisers.

Statement From Tumulty.

After a conference with the President, Secretary Tumulty issued the following statement regarding reported seizure of German ships.

We will do nothing we have not a clear right to do.

"There is no panic nor haste anywhere."

"When we act, we will act on the principles of right and not upon any principle of expediency."

DIPLOMATS TELL OF BERLIN'S BLUNDERS

Entente's Representatives Here
Say Break With U. S. Was Culmination of Series.

America's breaking of relations with Germany is the culmination of a series of diplomatic blunders on the part either of the German foreign office or its envoys, allied diplomats declared today.

The first, these allied representatives said, was calm belief that Belgium wouldn't fight.

The second was a similar belief that England would not join France and Russia.

The third was her belief that the patience of the United States would continue to stretch and that President Wilson would not break off relations.

Fourth blunder Expected.

These diplomats said they would not be surprised if Germany makes her fourth diplomatic blunder by believing the United States will not go to actual war if she endangers or destroys American life or property through insistence in carrying out her new U-boat warfare.

The Belgian mistake, it was pointed out, was based on reports to the foreign office from the German envoy at Brussels.

These reports were, in effect, entente diplomats said, "Belgium won't fight. Belgium will let Germany's armies use her as a gateway to France."

The British attitude, it was declared, as forecast to Berlin by the Kaiser's London envoy, was absolutely wrong, as history has proven. And German government heads believed that forecast, in view of England's Irish, labor, and suffragette troubles.

Different Sort of Mistake.

"And now the mistake regarding America comes," said the diplomat. "It is too recent to need detail here. The only difference is, I think, that the German foreign office, perhaps, did not accept the reported advice of Count von Bernstorff at its face value."

"I believe Bernstorff at least warned the United States might do what the United States did do; only his home government probably thought Bernstorff did not have the proper perspective, and reached its own conclusions."

"I believe Germany is about to err in judgment once more."

FIRE DEPARTMENT WARNING

Look and Feel
Clean, Sweet and
Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisons, out stagnant matter.

Every one, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and
